

The new home of Mulpha Australia Limited, 99 Macquarie Street, is one of Sydney's most prestigious business addresses. Originally built in 1938 for the New South Wales

Department of Motor Transport, this classic art deco building, formerly known as Transport House, was purchased by Mulpha in 2002. A $30 million refurbishment was completed last year. The building's historic features have been carefully restored and retained by Mulpha, working closely with Heritage architects on the rebirth of this landmark location.
